(3) If a property seized under this Act has been released on the lodging of a bond or other security, an order for forfeiture, unless the Court for special reasons fixes a smaller sum, operates as an order for the forfeiture of the bond or security.

(4) If a property seized under this Act has been released on the lodging of a bond or other security, the Court may order a convicted defendant and the owner of the seized property, whether or not he or she is a defendant, to pay the difference between the bond or security lodged and the aggregate value of the property ordered forfeited.

is to be dealt with as if the act or omission had taken place in Vanuatu within the limits of the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court.

(2) Any act or omission of any person outside Vanuatu waters, which if committed within Vanuatu waters would be an offence against this Act, is taken to have been committed within Vanuatu waters.

(3) If any regulation or condition of a licence or authorisation requires specifically or incidentally the reporting of any fact while the vessel is outside Vanuatu waters, proceedings may be taken in respect of any failure to report such fact as if it had occurred within Vanuatu waters.

(4) Despite the provision of any law to the contrary, an information or charge in respect of any offence against this Act may be laid at any time within 5 years after the commission of the offence.

137 Certificate evidence
The Director, or any person designated in writing by the Director, may give a certificate stating that:

(a) a specified vessel was or was not on a specified date or dates a local fishing vessel or locally based foreign fishing vessel; or

(b) a specified vessel or person was or was not on a specified date or dates the holder of any licence, authorisation or certificate of registration issued by the Vanuatu International Shipping Registry; or

138 Validity and procedures for certificates

(1) Unless the contrary is proved, a document purporting to be a certificate given under section 137 is taken to be such a certificate and to have been duly given.

(2) If a certificate issued under section 137 is served on a defendant less than 14 days before its production in court in any proceedings under this Act, the certificate, unless the contrary is proved, is sufficient evidence of all the facts stated in it.

(3) If a certificate issued under section 137 is served on a defendant:

(a) 14 or more days before its production in court; and
(b) the defendant does not, within 7 days before its production in court, serve a notice of objection in writing on the prosecutor, the certificate, unless the Court finds that the defendant is unduly prejudiced by any failure to object, is conclusive proof of all the facts stated in it.

(4) If an objection is notified under subsection (3), the certificate, unless the contrary is proven, is sufficient evidence of all the facts stated in it.

(5) A certificate issued under section 137 must not be used as conclusive proof unless it is served together with a copy of sections 137 and 138.

(6) An omission or mistake made in any certificate issued under section 137 does not render it invalid unless the Court considers such omission or mistake is material to any issue in the proceedings to which it relates, or the defendant is unduly prejudiced by the mistake or omission.

(7) If in any proceedings a certificate issued under section 137 is produced to the Court, the prosecution is not obliged to call the maker of the certificate and the Court is to rely on the facts stated in the certificate unless the contrary is proved.

139 Certificate as to location of vessels

(1) If, in any proceedings under this Act, the place or area in which a vessel is alleged to have been at a particular date and time, or during a particular period of time, is material to an offence charged, then the place or area stated in a certificate given by an authorised officer or observer is evidence, unless the contrary is proved, of the place or area in which the vessel was at the stated date and time, or during the stated period of time.

(2) An authorised officer or observer in any certificate made under subsection (1) must state in the certificate:

(a) his name, address, official position, country of appointment and provision under which he or she is appointed; and

(a) the readings were made by a competent operator; and

(b) the machine was checked for correct operation a reasonable time before and after the readings that are sought to be adduced as evidence were made, and if the machine appeared to be functioning properly.

(3) A designated machine, when checked for correct working and read by a competent operator, unless the contrary is proved, is presumed to give accurate readings within the manufacturer’s specified limits.

(4) A reading of designated machines may be made from a printout or as observed from a visual display unit.

(5) A designated machine must be capable, either wholly or partially, of producing the readings relied on and must not be merely the receiver of information or data.

141 Photographic evidence

(1) If a photograph is taken of any fishing or related activity, and simultaneously the date, time and position from which the photograph was taken are superimposed on the photograph, or are otherwise automatically recorded, then it is presumed, unless the contrary is proven, that the photograph was taken on the date, at the time and from the position so appearing.

(3) The information and data referred to in subsection (2) may be fed or input manually into the observer device, or automatically from machines on board the vessel, or ascertained by the use of the observer device transmissions in conjunction with other machines.

(4) A machine on board a vessel automatically feeding or inputting position fixing information or data into an observer device is to be judicially recognised as accurate or as a designated machine.

(5) Despite subsection (4), a machine used in conjunction with an observer device for the purpose of ascertaining or obtaining information or data, need not be judicially recognised as accurate or as a designated machine.

(6) Any information or data obtained or ascertained by the use of an observer device is presumed, unless the contrary is proved, to:

(a) come from the vessel so identified; and

(b) be accurately relayed or transferred; and

(2) If, in any legal proceedings under this Act, the place at which an event is alleged to have taken place is in issue, the place stated in the relevant entry in the logbook or other official record of any enforcement vessel or aircraft as being the place at which the event took place, is presumed to be the place at which the event took place, unless the contrary is proved.

(3) Prima facie evidence of any entry in a logbook or other official record of an enforcement vessel or aircraft may be given by the production of a written copy or extract certified by an authorised officer as a true copy or accurate extract.

(4) Any entry in writing or other mark in or on any logbook, chart or other document required to be maintained under this Act, or used to record the activities of a foreign fishing vessel, is taken to be that of the master, owner or charterer of the vessel.

(5) If any information is given in respect of a fishing vessel under this Act or an access or related agreement in relation to any fishing activity of a foreign fishing vessel, it is presumed to have been given by the master, owner or charterer of the vessel, unless it is proved it was not given by any of them.
